

Operations center lacks design says Hancock CD director

By JAKE JACOB

Hancock County is the only coastal area lacking a qualified emergency operations center, according to Charles Carter Jr., county civil defense director.

Carter said Tuesday that the state CD office has been asked to conduct a study on the suitability of such a facility for Hancock.

"The state study is the first item on procuring such a facility," Carter said. He said the present CD headquarters in the old Valena C. Jones School building now serving as city offices, was not of a type of construction suitable for the function.

"There is entirely too much glass here and the building was erected as a school facility not an emergency operations center," he said.

Carter made the observations following the unveiling of a new Civil Defense Functional Responsibility Chart. The chart lists each agency functioning in time of emergency, and explains its role.

"We are completing a second, far more detailed chart, spelling out the sectional areas of responsibility and activity according to the degree of storm warning received," Carter added.

The civil defense director said a hook-up to the local radio station had been completed and that all future civil defense advisories will be made directly from his office.

"We have completed arrangements for a direct loop to radio station WPUP enabling us to issue a constant flow of bulletins and information directly from this office.

Radio WPUP in Bay St. Louis, has been designated an Emergency Broadcast Station and has been authorized to broadcast on a 24-hour basis under emergency conditions," Carter said.

In explaining the shelter operation procedures, Carter indicated that 12 daylight hours of warning would be given; a feature made possible by development of more refined forecasting techniques.

"When we are informed a hurricane is forecast to strike our area within 12 hours, an evacuation order for low-lying and flood-prone areas will be issued," Carter said.

Emergency evacuation shelters will be opened and manned at this time, according to the director.

"Upon receiving this warning, persons in these areas should move inland. People are encouraged to stay at hotels or motels should such be within their economic range or, if possible, with friends. Of course, the Red Cross shelters will be open and available to everybody," Carter said.

Those utilizing shelter areas should bring blankets, medicines, flashlights, sandwiches, baby food (if applicable) and items for personal hygiene, Carter added.

Items quoted by the CD chief as being among the things not permitted inside shelters include: alcoholic beverages, firearms, pets, and household goods.

"Uniformed police will be on duty at each shelter to enforce these regulations," Carter said.

He said all evacuees must register on arrival at the shelters.

"A meal consisting of sandwiches, coffee or soft drinks, will be provided by the Red Cross after the shelter has been open for 12 hours," Carter explained.

Red Cross Disaster Committees, in charge of the shelters, are accepting volunteers for shelter watchers, managers, and workers.

"Names may be telephoned into this office and we will pass them on to the Red Cross," Carter said.

Telephone number for the Hancock Civil Defense Office is 467-9226.

Dobson tells tenants pay rent or move out

By JAKE JACOB

An eviction proceeding against five tenants of the Bay St. Louis Housing Authority Tuesday resulted in a 24-hour jail term being awarded one defendant for an expression of contempt against the court of Beat Four Justice Joe Dobson.

Mrs. Clara Mae Dawsey received the quick sentence after asking Dobson if he was running a Kangaroo court.

Also cited in the action were Mrs. Felton Jones, Mrs. Elaine Grass, Mrs. James Peters, and Mrs. Odessa Benoit.

All defendants were ordered by Dobson to vacate their premises by next Tuesday, June 29, should they still refuse to pay rent for the months of May and June.

The Dawsey jail term was almost immediately rescinded by Justice Dobson after an apology was offered by Mrs. Dawsey for the incident, which had followed a heated exchange between housing authority's attorney Nicholas Haas and the defendant concerning admissible evidence.

Haas had maintained the issue before the court dealt with the non-payment of rent. Mrs. Dawsey, he said, was presenting a series of grievances, issues not relevant to the case.

Dobson, though inclined to agree with Haas, told the defendants that in his opinion their problems lay in lack of proper communication between themselves and the housing authority, and asked Mrs. James Wimbish, the authority's director, to post the names of board members and meeting times in a place accessible to tenants.

The eviction issue came following a long battle between the tenant group and the authority, a dispute which led to pickets being posted in April.

"Our rents have all been paid to an escrow account in accordance with Housing and Urban Development (HUD) instructions and directions concerning grievances," the tenants testified.

Rev. F. A. Borgia Aubespin, pastor of St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church on Necaise Ave., said he was the person to whom the rents had been paid and that he had placed such sums in escrow, in accordance with the grievance procedures contained in Section 9 of the tenant lease agreement.

Mrs. Wimbish and Haas promptly took issue with Rev. Aubespin saying the escrow account concerned was not recognized by HUD or the authority.

"Had we been approached we would have recognized this account but we were not notified and as far as our records show these rents have not been paid," Mrs. Wimbish explained.

Haas said it was not the desire of the authority to see anyone evicted from their home but that the rents had to be collected. He said it was simply a matter of getting the issue resolved.

Dobson in his ruling indicated it was not in the court's interest to inflict a hardship on anyone, but told the tenants to pay the back rents by next Tuesday either directly to the authority or into an agreed escrow account.

Haas said the five cases were the first of some 18 or 19 like actions contemplated by the authority. The remainder of the cases, it was indicated, fall within the confines of Beat Five, an area served by the court of justice William Frisbie.

City gas billings to reflect increase

City gas customers can expect a combined increase of 16 percent in their utility bills over the next two months, according to Bay St. Louis Utility Commissioner Lucien Kidd.

Kidd said the rate increases were "pass on" increases charged the city by United Gas Pipeline Co., the city's supplier of natural gas, as provided by a new city ordinance passed last year.

United Gas, said Kidd, increased its price of gas to the city by 6.22 percent on May 15 and by another 10.43 percent during June.

Kidd said the city will absorb the increase over the 16 percent.

Customer billings for June usage will reflect the six percent increase. Kidd said the additional 10 percent increase will be applied to all usage after July 1st.

The combined 16 percent increase will total approximately $4.10 more on the minimum billing of 1000 cubic feet, said Kidd and approximately $3.34 on the second 1000 cubic feet. Over 5000 cubic feet rates will increase approximately $18. Kidd said the city was presently undergoing a gas leaks survey to locate and repair as many of the leaks in the system as possible. Rough estimates, he said, place the city loss on gas leaks at approximately 14 percent or less.

Dupont expends funds for plant construction

The Du Pont Company has authorized expenditure of an additional $20 million for a titanium dioxide plant it expects to begin building in Mississippi early next year and have operating by 1979. The plant will have an annual capacity of 150,000 tons.

Du Pont now has authorized $40 million for the plant, in which total investment is expected to exceed $150 million.

Arthur H. Gell, vice president and general manager of the Pigments Department, said the additional funds will be used to further develop the 2200-acre site at Delisle, near the Bay of St. Louis, and to order equipment for future delivery.

A 1979 start-up would be about two years behind the schedule announced by Du Pont in mid-1974. The company said early in 1975 it would pace construction to the recovery in the economy following the downturn which began during the fourth quarter of 1974.

Du Pont said demand for titanium dioxide it makes at three other plants has increased steadily in recent months. The product is tracking recovery in the generally improving economy, and is responding in particular to improvements in the automotive, paint, paper, and plastics industries, officials said.

Body of Waveland realtor discovered by neighbor

BULLETIN - Mrs. Beatrice (Bea) Georgi, 66, prominent Waveland realtor and sometimes political hopeful, was found dead in her home on Duthu Road by neighbors Wednesday night. The body of Mrs. Georgi was discovered in an easy chair by a neighbor, Warren Duthu, after friends became concerned when she did not answer her doorbell.

According to Duthu, Mrs. Georgi apparently died of natural causes. The body was discovered around 5:30 p.m. Coroner Carl Banderet and officers of the Hancock County Sheriff's office were called to the scene by Duthu.

Mrs. Georgi was owner of the Blue Room Lounge and of Bea Georgi's Real Estate, both in Waveland, and had entered a number of local political races in her lifetime. She was most recently an unsuccessful candidate for Beat One supervisor in the November general elections.

Old Senate Chamber dedication holds significance for Stennis

WASHINGTON, D.C. — When the dedication of the Old Senate Chamber took place in the Nation's Capitol last week, the event held special significance for Sen. John C. Stennis.

The historical and personal importance of the dedication to Stennis is best explained in a letter to the Senator from Francis R. Valeo, executive secretary of the Commission on Art and Antiquities. In part Valeo said, "Preservation of the Old Senate Chamber and the recently opened Old Supreme Court Chamber is a small measure to our untiring efforts. I recall as early as 1960 you worked for restoration of these sadly neglected rooms. From that time until 1972, when the Congress reached a decision in the matter, you called on the Senate time and again, to act to preserve these historic meeting places."

Due to Stennis' persistence in soliciting support among his colleagues, restoration of the original Supreme Court Chamber was restored and opened last May. During this Bicentennial year, remarks made by Senator Stennis reveal his reasons for insisting on the restoration. During hearings on the question, Stennis said, "These Chambers belong to the public... (that they) may experience a new sense of historic inspiration, a new dimension of patriotism."

Stennis pointed out several interesting facts concerning the restored Senate Chamber and Mississippi history. "When the Senate members of the 11th Congress first met in this Chamber in January, 1810, Mississippi had not been admitted to the Union. However, in Aug., 1814, the British marched on Washington and set fire to the Capitol. It was not until 1819 that the Chamber was rebuilt and again occupied by the Senate. By this time, Mississippi's first two senators, Walter Leake and Thomas Hill Williams, joined their colleagues in this meeting place," Stennis said.

The Mississippi Senator also pointed out that the desks in the restored Chamber are reproductions of the originals. "The reason for this," Stennis explained, "is not because the desks of this period no longer exist, but because many of these desks are still in use in today's Chamber. The desk I use each day was once used by Jefferson Davis and many other distinguished Mississippians."

Stennis raised one other interesting point in that while the Senate moved to its present Chamber on Jan. 4, 1859, he has actually served two years as a Senator when the old Chamber was used for Senate sessions. "This Chamber served as the temporary meeting place during repairs and reconstruction of the present Chamber in 1940 and again in 1949-50. I was elected in 1947 and was here during the second period the Old Senate Chamber was used."

The Chamber, located on the second floor of the U.S. Capitol, served as the Senate's meeting place from 1810 until 1859. During its tenure in this room, the Senate grew from a small advisory council to the primary forum for the great national debates of the mid-19th century. The Old State Chamber was the setting for

Miss Hospitality pageant slated July 21 in Biloxi

Applications and photographs of some of Mississippi's most charming and personable young ladies are arriving daily at the Travel and Tourism Department of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board, all entrants in the 27th Annual Miss Hospitality Pageant.

Communities from throughout the state each year hold local Miss Hospitality contests to select their entrants in the statewide pageant. More than 80 girls are expected to compete for this year's coveted crown. For the first time in the history of the pageant, the community of Blue Mountain will have an entrant. Only six towns have had a contestant every year since the Hospitality program began in 1949.

The reigning Miss Hospitality, Karen Alexander of Union, said, "I am really looking forward to this year's pageant and to meeting all the girls. I would encourage every town in Mississippi to participate in the Hospitality program. It's really a wonderful experience for each girl." Karen will relinquish her crown during coronation ceremonies Saturday evening, July 24.

According to Dot Lambert, manager of the A & I Board's Travel and Tourism Department, some new innovations will be incorporated into the coronation night procedure. In addition, each contestant will be given the opportunity to make a live broadcast to her hometown radio station during a break in her busy Hospitality schedule.

The 1976 Pageant, sponsored by the A & I Board, is scheduled to get underway in Biloxi July 21. The deadline for entries is midnight, June 21.

Property owners thank firemen for quick action

Volunteer firemen from Bayside Park, East Hancock and Diamondhead together with the Slidell, La. Fire Department were credited with saving adjacent property from destruction recently when the "Old Favre" house in Pearlington was destroyed by fire.

Believed to be more than one hundred years old, the Favre house caught fire June 6 and for several, anxious minutes, became the source of a spreading ring of flame and sparks.

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Lott, owners of the property directly adjoining to the South, said their home would have been destroyed without the efforts of these volunteers. "The alarm was turned into Bay St. Louis Fire Department."

"These people, in turn, alerted the other departments who quickly came to our assistance."

"Without the help of these people, many of whom are volunteers, our house would have gone for sure," Lott said.

The Favre house, because of its picturesque and ornate facade, was often referred to as "The Gingerbread House." It was located on property abutting East Pearl River.

Council remands variance request to planning and zoning body

The Bay St. Louis city council Monday remanded back to the city Planning and Zoning Board a recommendation to grant a variance to Cook Bros. Inc. for development of six residential lots in the Cedar Point area.

Commissioner Clarence Ladner in proposing the motion to return the matter back to the Planning and Zoning Board agreed with Mayor Warren Carver that the planning body had not followed proper procedures in notifying adjacent residents of a public hearing on the variance question.

Carver said that the city code dictated that owners of abutting properties affected by the variance be notified by certified mail of a public hearing on the question in advance of the meeting. Carver said property owners did not receive notification by the board until after the hearing had already been held. The code also stipulates the city advertise the hearing date in local papers, which was done, Carver said.

The board of adjustment had recommended granting the variance which would allow for a 40 foot set back instead of the normally required 80 feet on beach front property and would waive the minimum lot size of 15,600 square feet to 15,330 square feet of land and water area.

In other business the council opened bids on a three ton air conditioner for the city fire station after declaring the matter of an emergency nature.

Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie said the daytime temperature often reached 95 degrees in the department's quarters at Valena C. Jones center.

Bids received were from

Mack's Heating and Air Conditioning—$592; Jay's Air Conditioning and Heating—$345; Gulf Coast Equipment Company—$716; and Edward Electric Co.—$560. The bids were taken under advisement. In other business, the council voted to advertise for a new bush hog.

—voted to hire Sidney

Carver as dog catcher for $400 a month. —took no action on Carver's suggestion that the city put locks on thermostats at city hall to regulate temperatures.

Appropriations bill includes state money

WASHINGTON — The Public Works appropriation bill that passed the House of Representatives early this week includes $3.1 million for South Mississippi projects, according to Congressman Trent Lott (R-Miss.).

Lott said the measure, H. R. 14236, will provide funds for Public Works and power development and energy research projects. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Projects in Lott's Fifth Congressional District earmarked for funds included: $3 million for Tallahala Creek Lake and $60,000 for the Pascagoula harbor.

Lott said the Pascagoula project was for general investigations by the Corps of Engineers. The Tallahala funds will be used for construction.

"These projects are of major interest to South Mississippians," Lott said. "The Tallahala project, of course, is vitally important to many who are currently living in flood prone areas. Needless to say, I am very pleased that these projects are funded in the Public Works bill."

Scientist appointed to USM professorship

HATTIESBURG — An internationally known industrial scientist, polymer chemist, industrial executive consultant and licensed chemical engineer has been appointed an adjunct professor of polymer science at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The appointment of Dr. Raymond B. Seymour, who has just received the prestigious MCA Catalyst Award from the Manufacturing Chemists Association, will be effective July 1, announced Dr. George B. Bufkin, chairman of the USM polymer science department.

Author of more than 500 research publications, Dr. Seymour comes to USM from the University of Houston where he was professor and coordinator of polymer research.

The Catalyst Award cited Dr. Seymour, one of only six in the nation to get the honor this year, for "excellence in teaching chemistry and chemical engineering, dedication to science instruction and motivation of students to careers in science and responsibility as citizens."

Dr. Seymour has worked as an industrial scientist for several companies, been president of a company, and was chairman of the Research and Education Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers.

He also spent four years teaching chemistry at Sul Ross (Tex.) State University. He also supervises fellowships from the American Chemical Society (the Petroleum Research Fund), from Gulf Oil Foundation, and from the Society of the Plastic Industry.

He also will be an exchange professor this fall in Eastern Europe for the National Academy of Science.

Medicare premiums go up July 1

Monthly premiums on the medical insurance part of Medicare will go up starting July 1.

The basic premium rate will go from $9.40 to $7.20 a month, according to Charles E. Wofford, social security district manager in Gulfport.

Medicare medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other medical expenses and is funded by individual premiums and Federal general revenues. The protection is offered to people reaching 65 and over who are eligible for social security or railroad retirement benefits, to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to social security or similar railroad retirement disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more, and to many people under 65 with permanent kidney failure.

The basic premium rate could not be increased last year because of a technical flaw in the law that has since been corrected, according to Wofford.

Some people 65 and over pay a monthly premium for the other part of Medicare, the hospital insurance, because they didn't work long enough under social security.

"Starting July 1, the basic premium rate for these people will go from $40 to $45 a month," he said.

Hospital insurance protection is extended without premium charge, to people reaching 65 who are eligible for social security or railroad retirement benefits, to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to social security or similar railroad retirement disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more, and to many people under 65 with permanent kidney failure.

"People 65 and over who aren't eligible for social security or railroad retirement benefits can get Medicare hospital insurance by paying a monthly premium if they also sign up for the medical insurance," Wofford said.

The hospital insurance premium rate is based on the average monthly cost of this protection.

The Medicare law requires an annual review of the cost of the medical insurance program. Based on this review, an estimate is made of the cost of this coverage for the following year.

"Under that provision," Wofford said, "the Medicare beneficiaries' basic premium rate would have been increased by over 40 percent to $10.70 a month because of rising costs of medical services covered by Medicare's medical insurance."

"But," he said, "the law also limits any increase in the basic premium rate to the percentage that social security benefit payments increased in the previous year. Social security payments increased 8 percent in 1975, so the Medicare medical insurance basic premium rate was limited to 8 percent starting July 1 - to $7.20 a month."

The premium is less than half the cost of this protection. The Federal Government pays the remainder from general revenues.

The Social Security Tragedy

Part III

Another fallacy of the Social Security scheme is in the promises that were made in the beginning—that it would do away with the need for other kinds of relief payments. Actually, these other social payments have increased at geometrical rates, since Social Security was adopted.

If no other persons were admitted to the plan, but all the people presently employed under it continued to make their regular payments, the amount so collected would lack $2.4 trillion of meeting Social Security payments to past and present workers. This is expressed in constant dollars. As inflation goes on, of course the deficit would rise astronomically beyond the present $2.4 trillion. The mathematical impossibility of coming on with the present Social Security monstrosity is therefore obvious.

But even if new workers, the young men and young women joining the labor force every year, can be forced into paying the taxes under the scheme at the present rate, the long term deficit over the next 75 years is still expected to reach $1.3 trillion. The cost of living increases under the law will, of course, inflate this sum to an unknown, but enormous extent. Any way you look at it, the scheme will have to be revised, scaled down or repudiated. If it is not done intentionally, specifically and intelligently, it will be done haphazardly and extremely painfully by inflation.

This is an example of what happens when the government puts its hands on the laws of the free market and starts meddling with the economic activities of the people. It looks so easy to help this or that group, but the end result is a gigantic catastrophe, far greater than the ups and downs of the free market.

As is true in almost every government intervention, Social Security taxes are being converted into a vehicle for the redistribution of income. It is being transferred from the young to the old, and from the middle income workers to the low income retirees.

Lower income people receive, after their retirement, a larger percentage of what their earnings were at retirement than is paid to the persons whose income brackets were higher. Thus, Social Security payments are on a progressive scale, which is just another phase of the equalization of wealth. Few seem to worry about the fact that in the process of equalization, the destruction of wealth takes place, so that in the end the rich will be made poor and the poor will become much poorer. All of us will suffer severely as private property continues to disappear and the direction of industry passes more and more to the state.

Freedom is impossible without private property, and the people of this generation are sealing their fate and become subservient to the state as, in their quest for more benefits, they entrust the state with more and more power.

The Social Security tax is expected to rise to about 20 percent by the end of the century, but even that will not make the system solvent. The only possible way out is to increase the working span, and provide for retirement at age 60 or 72. Most of our citizens are perfectly capable of working to that age.

Mississippi to be honored at Mt. Rushmore

Bicentennial salute

The State of Mississippi will be honored July 17-18 at Mt. Rushmore National Memorial in the Black Hills of South Dakota. Rushmore is a national Bicentennial focal point and the site for

MT. RUSHMORE, S.D. — The State of Mississippi flag will fly over Mt. Rushmore National Memorial in South Dakota's Black Hills July 17-18, recognizing Mississippi in the National Park Service's "1976 Days of Honor" commemoration. Mississippi Gov. Cliff Finch has been invited to attend the evening ceremonies at Mt. Rushmore July 18 and receive his state's flag.

Mississippi's flag will also fly throughout the summer in an Avenue of Flags at the memorial.

"The Mississippi flag which flies over the memorial will be presented to Gov. Finch, or his representative, during our evening lighting ceremonies," says Rushmore Superintendent Harvey Wickware. "Ceremonies both days will recognize Mississippi in the Days of Honor commemoration developed by the Park Service to fulfill Rushmore's role as a national Bicentennial focal point."

South Dakota Governor

Richard Kneip has extended an invitation, on behalf of all South Dakotans, for any Mississippi resident traveling north to participate in their state's days at Mt. Rushmore. The Mt. Rushmore Days of Honor program began May 21 and continues through Sept. 8, with each state and territory in the nation receiving homage at the Shrine of Democracy.

Located on a 6,000-foot-high granite mountain, the Shrine of Democracy was carved by Gutzon Borglum as a monumental summation of the American Republic. Borglum chose four presidents (Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt) as symbols of the growth of the United States. The portrait bust of each is 60 feet high.

Rushmore's unique attribute of being a memorial for the whole nation, rather than just one section, led to its national Bicentennial designation in 1971.

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

ANOTHER DEBT LIMIT INCREASE

It carried a "temporary" label, but last week's House approval of another debt limit increase was permanent.

H. R. 14114, the House Ways and Means Committee's temporary remedy for another busted budget, simply raises the public debt limitation to cover this year's debts, and next year's, and the next. It hikes the limitation to $636 billion through Sept. 30 of this year, $682 billion through Mar. 31 of this year, and $700 billion through Sept. 30, 1977.

That represents $9 billion, $55 billion and $73 billion, respectively, which seems small indeed when you consider that that total limit now stands at $627 billion through the end of this month. The present debt limitation consists of a PERMANENT limit of $400 billion and a temporary limit effective through June 30 of $227 billion.

Six members of the Ways and Means Committee who refused to go along with the increase filed minority views in the committee report. I like their reasoning.

"In 1970, just six years ago, the public debt subject to limitation was $373 billion," their minority views read. "The debt in 1970 took 194 years to accumulate. By June 30, 1976, it is estimated that the public debt will be $636 billion — or a gain of $263 billion in just six years."

"The bill adopted by this Committee adds another $73 billion to the debt ceiling for the 15-month period between June, 1976, and September, 1976. This brings the grand total to $169 billion in new debt authorized by the Ways and Means Committee in approximately one year — or about 25 percent of the the folly of this course must be apparent to even the most devoted admirers of deficit spending.

"Had the majority refused to accommodate the big spenders of Congress," their views concluded, "and kept a lid on the debt, Congress would have been forced to come to grips with its own profligacy. As it is, we are not only allowing huge deficits for this year, but are encouraging the same thought 1977 as well."

On the other side of the coin is the argument that a huge difference exists between excessive government spending on one hand and appropriate legislative authority to pay the bills on the other. No less an authority than William Simon, the man who pays the bills as Secretary of the Treasury, favors passage of the debt limit increase but abhors the reasons for such an action.

"No one deplores more than I do the pattern of consistent deficit spending which has necessitated continuing growth in our national debt," he pointed out in a recent letter to House Minority Leader John R. "But, especially in recent years, it has become clear that the debt ceiling is not an effective device for controlling the level of governmental expenditures. There is no indication that debt ceiling consideration have ever deterred Congress from adopting spending programs."

"I am deeply troubled by the growth in Federal Expenditures proposed in recent budget actions by the Congress," he continued. "But as we continue to fight these excessive budget increases, I hope a clear distinction can be made between excessive spending on the one hand, and insuring appropriate legislative authority to finance whatever obligations are incurred on the other. H. R. 14114 is legislation which clearly falls within the latter category and its adoption is most important."

I share the Secretary's concern, but I can't help but think that H.R. 14114's sponsors are looking at the wrong end of the economic stick. We should be lowering government expenditures, not raising the debt limit.

After all, a public limit means absolutely nothing if we continue to increase it when we happen to feel like it.

BICENTENNIAL

by Joe Pilet

Ever hear of a place called Louisiana, Missouri? Louise Nolan did. In fact she found much of interest there including an exquisite "flower garden" design patchwork quilt which she spied and bought from a little museum.

Louise is joining the ranks of many who have revived patch work quilting as a hobby. She is in quest of cotton scraps (100 percent cotton) and when sufficient material is available she will duplicate the designs in several old quilts she once owned and cherished "before the fire" that destroyed so many family heirlooms.

Much of the charm and appeal of patchwork is in the romantic telling of quilt stories passed along from quilting bees. In Colonial days women delighted in intricate and difficult patterns, they frequently came up with elegant combinations of colors, and often exchanged patterns with each other.

Quilting, however, did not begin as a "cabin craft." The funeral tent of an Egyptian queen is our earliest known example of patchwork. It is composed of thousands of little pieces of gazelle hide dyed and sewn together. Today many of our modern cushions are worked from squares of furs. A quilt might well be described as two pieces of material of bed-sized dimensions sewn together with padding between, stitched to form a pattern.

Quilts fall into two general categories: pieced or appliqued. Popular American designs include the double wedding ring, Dresden plate, Confederate rose, log cabin, and blazing star. Colonist found many practical uses for quilts. They covered chair backs and fireside benches and were wonderful protection against drafts. In "sick rooms" when draped across windows they cut out glare, and as wall hangings they lessened noise.

The "crazy quilt" came into vogue that no tiny scrap of these exotic taffetas, program silks, Balmoral tartans, cut velvets and satins might be wasted.

Quilting was a therapy — a challenge — an answer to the creative mind eager for self-expression.

Old quilts serve as historical references! Shortly after the Civil War came "The Slave Chain." The stormy colonizing of Texas produced the "Texas Tears," when the West was being settled a pattern appeared in quilting called "The Rocky Road to Kansas" — or "Kansas Troubles."

Quilt patterns also tell us of familiar flowers, such as "Prickly Pear," "Climbing Rose," "Early Rose of Sharon," and of Indians with creations such as "Indian Trail" and "The Bear's Paw," etc. Quilts record messages from the sun and stars, weddings — coronations!

Recommended "wash goods" for making quilts as advertised between 1715 and 1735 included gingham, calicos, cambricks, duck, birds eyes, spotted lawn, muslins, later dates added Tartans, linens, and "huckabuck."

Quilting frames propped up on straight back chairs and placed in a "fire room" were a familiar sight in early American homes as neighbors and friends gathered to prattle of home cures, exchange recipes, gossip, giggle, cluck and stitch.

Perhaps the bicentennial, or the tedium of current television programs is responsible for the revival of interest in quilts and quilting.

Stennis gains committee approval for state flood control funding

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Senator John C. Stennis Thursday successfully gained Appropriations Committee approval for almost $224 million to fund flood control and navigation projects in Mississippi for fiscal year 1977.

As chairman of the Senate Public Works Appropriations Subcommittee, Stennis had been conducting extensive hearings on the budget requests for flood control, navigation, energy and certain other programs. Commenting on the importance of the appropriations, Stennis said, "Our nation and our state are particularly blessed with abundant and fruitful land and water. It is essential that we continue to develop these resources to get the maximum benefits possible."

Turning his attention to the existing unemployment problems, Stennis continued, "Although decreasing the number of Americans who are out of work is of the utmost importance, I believe the federal government should concentrate on programs that will provide employment and also render a useful product. Navigation and flood control projects are primary sources of these types of opportunities." Not only do they help remedy the more immediate unemployment problem, they provide the essential elements for further development, economical transportation and improved quality of life.

"The Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway is a prime example of the total development potential of these types of projects. Business will increase. Industry will locate within the area. More jobs will be created. Higher salaries will be paid. Tax revenues will increase making possible more services from the local governments. In short, the Tennessee-Tombigbee is much more than a river. It's a potentially new way of life for thousands and thousands of people." The Senate Appropriations Committee today approved $104 million to continue construction of the project.

Stennis stressed, "These same principles hold true for development of our harbors and waterways along the Gulf Coast and on the Mississippi River, flood control projects in our Yazoo Basin and numerous other projects of local and regional importance throughout our State."

KERSHNER'S COMMENTARY

By Dr. Howard E. Kershner

More Washington Wisdom

Our capital resources "are not being effectively utilized, because we have erected one government impediment after another to the domestic production of oil, natural gas, and coal. It is imperative that the Congressional and Executive branches work more closely together to dismantle these barriers so that we can make much more significant progress toward energy self-sufficiency. For consumers, a return to more competitive energy markets would mean slightly higher prices in the short run, but over the long run, as domestic production increases, the payoff will be very substantial. There will be more energy supplies for consumers, prices of energy will fall, and, most importantly, the economic fortunes of our people will no longer be at the mercy of those who do not always share our best interests." (Secretary William E. Simon, Treasury Papers, January 1976.)

"Let us briefly look at what the future will require: We will need to create almost 20 million new jobs by 1985; by contrast, we created about 13 million over the past decade. We will need as much as a trillion dollars to satisfy our special needs in energy. Protection of the environment and greater worker safety will add to investment needs and already account for almost ten per cent of plant and equipment outlays in the manufacturing area. In total, investment outlays in the decade ahead will have to rise by $4 trillion to $4.5 trillion or three times the $1.5 trillion of the past decade." (Assistant Treasury Secretary, Gerald L. Parsky, Treasury Papers, January 1976.)

For more than a decade, the United States has reinvested a smaller portion of its Gross National Product than any other major industrial country. Hence, our growth of real productivity is very low. Actually, our productivity gain during the past seven years has been at only one-half the rate of the two preceding decades. Shortages of capital have been evident since 1973.

Mr. Parsky added, "The public must be educated about the meaning and function of capital in our economic system. Leaders, both in government and outside, must create better understanding of the relationship between capital investment and productivity and jobs."

Mr. Parsky called for a reduction in government spending, the elimination of deficits, and avoidance of wage-price guidelines of any kind. He said, "We must hit the heavy hand of government regulations that is threatening to strangle the free enterprise system."

The comment from the Secretary of the Treasury and one of his chief assistants is sound and refreshing. If the Congress and the nation would heed it we would soon be on the road to full employment and prosperity.

These tested tips make that tough audience listen

American executives, I'm convinced, talk too much. They express themselves poorly and seem to have an uncanny ability for evading the key points they are trying to communicate.

That's right! Most of us executives can't communicate clearly and concisely! Probably because most of us ignored studies of speech, or how to speak well. Here are ten tested tips I guarantee will help you. They're based on experience from more than 3000 talks to millions of people.

-Sign up for a good public-speaking course. They're usually available at a nearby night school. Attend the course faithfully. Seek every opportunity available to speak publicly.

-Forcefully command attention. Graciously acknowledge your introduction, then move on swiftly and confidently. Spark your opening with an effective joke, a famous reference, or a startling statement, or a quote. Here's one I've used successfully:

"Thinking is hard work . . . and that's why so few of us do it!" Henry Ford said that . . .

-Know your audience and aim for its prime interest. Get involved. Explain your central theme and immediately relate your listeners' needs to your message. Seven magic words for the Seventies are:

"Find a human need and fill it."

Hope, inspiration, and motivation, are three types of needs we all have nearly everyday. Can you aim your message at these needs? Try it. You'll be pleased at your response, I predict!

-Say what you mean. Keep it clear. Keep it simple. Talk with your audience. Maintain a warm, friendly, conversational tone. There's a good jingle that'll help you remember this important point. Here it is:

"Tell me quick, and tell me true; or else, my friend, to hell with you!"

-Jolt your audience! Shake 'em up. Utilize "Body Language." Move around. Be alive, alert, animated. Knock the apathy out of them. Zip in rhetorical electricity. Give 'em both barrels. Scold them.

DR. WHITT SCHULTZ

Dare them. Challenge them to act. I often work in this jolter: "I dare you; yes, I dare you, to look at your loved ones like it's the first, and last, time you'll ever see them. Do so and you'll see more beauty and kindness than you've ever seen before . . ."

-Really look at them! Maintain eye contact. Let your eyes constantly wander over the entire group. Do it slowly, naturally, sincerely, and smile.

As I speak to audiences all over the free world, I urge them to take 'Smile Breaks' periodically. Try a Smile Break yourself, right now. Go ahead! Bet you'll feel better. Right?

-Utilize specific examples selling your central point. Present logical and believable proof. Convince with examples. Illustrate your points. Put warmth and human interest into your facts and figures. Here's an example:

"We Americans are peculiar folks. Each year we devour 16 million pounds (8000 tons) of aspirin. We devote one day to our mother's . . . Mom's Day; and one week to pickles . . . National Pickle Week!"

Why patronize? Remember what Ralph Waldo Emerson said:

"Nothing astonishes people as much as common sense and plain dealing!"

-Capture their eyes! Use visual aids to help zing in your messages. Blackboards, flip charts, flannel boards, slides, films . . . all give change of pace. And, each one helps you, to zoom your ideas deep into the brains of your audience.

-Ask For Action! Keep it simple and direct. Inspirational persuasion, woven into a dare, is a good and sure way to close a talk. Here's an example:

"Today; Now; Really start using that gold mine between your ears!"

-Leave them wanting more! Your exit is as important as your entrance. Real "pros" know when to quit when they're ahead.

Shoreline Park resident charged

A Shoreline Park man is confined in Hancock County Jail under $5,000 bond on charges of attempted rape of a 17-year-old Gulfport youth.

According to Hancock Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, Carol W. Landry, 45, picked up the girl around 10 p.m. Tuesday as she was hitchhiking along U.S. Highway 90 in front of Bay St. Louis Shopping Center. Reportedly, he then took her to his home where the alleged rape occurred.

Hancock officers were notified by a Harrison County deputy whom the girl telephoned when she returned to Gulfport around midnight.

Landry was arrested at approximately 5:30 a.m. Wednesday when deputies recognized his van from the girl's description. The arrest occurred on the Waveland cut-off road. A preliminary hearing is scheduled Tuesday before Beat Four Justice Joe Dobson.

Blessing of fleet heralds season

The annual Blessing of the Fleet, an event sponsored by the local Chambers of Commerce in affiliation with Gulf Fishermen Inc., will be held at Bayou Cadet this Saturday at 2 p.m.

The Right Rev. Msgr. John Scanlon of Waveland will perform the traditional blessing which heralds the opening of the shrimp season.

Leading the procession will be a boat from the Mississippi Boat and Water Safety Control Commission followed by an official boat from the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission, Mrs. Lamb said.

After the boats are blessed, they will proceed to the Bayou Cadet entrance where they will be reviewed by officials of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, and Hancock County. The officials will be embarked in the cruiser OMECO, owned by John Housley, president of Orleans Marital, New Orleans.

Judging the boats for best decorations will be Davis McCutcheon of Pass Christian, Mrs. Paul Vegas of Bay St. Louis and Merlin Markel of Waveland.

Small businesses to receive boost from state government

Small businesses in Mississippi will soon be receiving another boost from state government.

Governor Cliff Finch, in an executive order issued June 10, stated that all state agencies, departments and institutions responsible for purchasing goods and services will establish a goal of purchasing 10 percent of these goods and services from small, independently owned and operated businesses within the state.

In addition, the order states that the State Building Commission and Highway Department "shall designate as small business set asides, where possible, not less than 20 percent by number of all construction projects estimated to be less than $100,000 for exclusive bidding by small business concerns."

The purchasing division of the Budget Commission will determine criteria for small businesses and will recommend to state agencies ways the policy can be implemented.

The Small Business Assistance Department and Office of Minority Business Enterprise of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board will work with the other agencies in drafting regulations and in forming small businesses on procedures.

The order came just prior to the governor's Conference on State Purchasing, held June 11 and 12, which informed the minority entrepreneur ways to attract state business. U.S. Secretary of Commerce Elliot Richardson, main speaker for the event, expressed approval of the policy.

In the order Governor Finch called small and independent business the backbone of the American economic system, providing half of its jobs and 40 percent of its gross product.

Therefore it is to the state's benefit to promote and encourage the independent business ventures, which can be accomplished without additional cost to the taxpayer.

House approves $9.7 million military construction bill

WASHINGTON — Congressman Trent Lott (R-Miss.) this week hailed passage of a military construction appropriation bill containing $9.7 million for military installations in Mississippi's Fifth Congressional District.

Lott said H. R. 14235, the Military Construction Appropriation Bill, is a "positive indication that Congress has committed itself to a strong defense." The measure now goes to the Senate for approval.

Fifth Congressional District facilities earmarked for funds include: the Naval Oceanographic Office headquarters at Bay St. Louis, $7.4 million; Keesler Air Force Base at Biloxi, $1.3 million; and the Naval Construction Battalion Center at Gulfport, $264,000. The only other Mississippi facility to receive funds is Columbus Air Force Base, $750,000.

The Oceanographic Office money will be used for construction of an administrative complex of buildings. The Keesler and Seabee funds will be used to extend existing energy control and monitoring systems.

The bill calls for $3.3 billion for construction projects at military installations throughout the world.

A - A veteran attending school on above high school level who needs additional tutoring may qualify for tutorial payments not to exceed $60 per month with a maximum total of $720.

Q - I was honorably discharged six months ago, after two years' active duty. I had some dental work done in service, but it was not completed. Am I eligible for dental treatment through the VA?

A - Veterans with service-connected noncompensable dental disability in existence upon release from active service must apply to the VA within one year of separation date. They must be examined within 14 months from separation and dental treatment must be completed within three years from application.

BETTER LIVING, THE AMERICAN WAY

by Daine P. Kerr

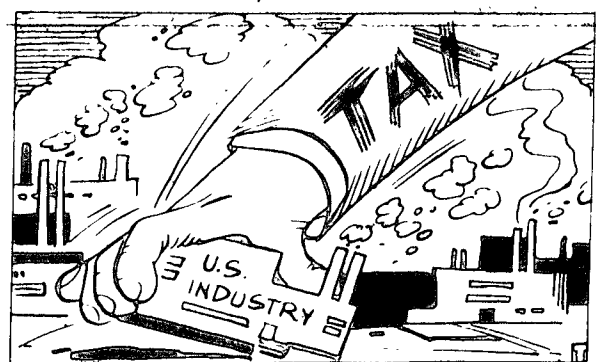

The federal government could do a lot more for all the people of America if it tried to do a little less.

The energy field is a good example. In spite of the obvious ill effects of governmental intervention in the oil and gas industry, we hear nothing but continued demands for more government price controls, and more governmental allocation of raw materials, supplies and customers. Our political leaders seem deathly afraid of letting our economic system function in its normal way. And yet any impartial observer knows that the free market economy over any period of time does a far better job of allocating resources and people than any government hierarchy.

In addition to understanding and believing in our traditional free market economy, we must recognize the direct relationship between laws and governmental policies and an economic and political climate conducive to the growth and development of our country.

Power To Destroy

The tax laws, for example, can encourage and facilitate the formation of capital necessary for industrial expansion, or they may make business expansion impossible. Our first Chief Justice, John Marshall, told us long ago that the power to tax is the power to destroy. Nevertheless, even though it is generally conceded that industry must make unprecedented capital investments, there are many who believe the oil industry, and business generally, should be heavily taxed to finance new projects for the poor and the unemployed. We may well ask where America would be today, how many more poor and unemployed there would be, if such a punitive tax policy had in past years prevented basic capital formation.

There are some who feel that the government should appropriate billions to create public jobs for the unemployed. Others feel that we cannot do without a whole variety of costly social or welfare or experimental educational programs. All of these new programs and there seems to be no end to them, are being piled on top of our already enormous social welfare budget. All will require deficit financing. None will add to the country's productive capacity in any lasting or meaningful way.

In most cases the new program fails to solve the basic problem to which it is addressed. It is difficult to imagine the forefathers settling for such a permanent welfare culture. Surely they would have recognized that just as it is possible for the government to engage in direct political tyranny, it can engage in economic oppression, and as well, bureaucratic authoritarianism over citizens made overly dependent on governmental welfare. In short, free citizens who have lost their freedom from the government because of governmental policies.

Our system was designed by a free and confident people. It has worked and will work. But we have unwisely allowed the role of the government to be expanded beyond the extent of its capability. We need real solutions. We need to encourage production and not stagnation. We need jobs real jobs, permanent jobs. We need social justice, too, but we cannot buy it with governmental make-work and handouts. We need laws to protect the rights of all our citizens, and a healthy economy to make those rights meaningful.

Business Surge

If we were to set out on a program to restore our domestic energy resource base in the quickest possible time, a program which would unshackle the oil, coal and related industries to do the job they are capable of doing, we would not only solve a lot of our energy problems but many other problems as well. A great surge of productive business activity would reach every segment of our society. We would see real employment gains, and the opportunity for lasting social progress in the traditional American pattern.

I recently saw the observation of a well-known economist to the effect that we should not be so worried about deficit spending after all, businesses incur long-term indebtedness to finance their needs, so why shouldn't the government do the same thing? The parallel is not a persuasive one. Businesses must pay back their indebtedness or cease their operations. Businesses do not borrow money to finance projects unless it seems reasonably sure that these capital expenditures will increase production or efficiency, or both. Unfortunately, the great bulk of governmental spending is not related to the development of the economy in a tangible manner, and little thought is given to the ultimate repayment of the debt.

I would say that the United States is already heavy on debt. Frequent and massive incursions into the money markets by the government tend to crowd out private borrowers and drive up interest rates. We have mortgaged our nation's future rather heavily already, and serious thought should be given to creating some discipline, some control, over government spending.

I happen to live in a state whose constitution requires that every appropriation must be accompanied by a certification of the state's chief financial officer that there will be adequate government revenues to meet the expenditures. When a legislative body cannot vote for expenditures without the same time enacting the necessary revenue measures to foot the bill, clear choices must be made. Some approach to such a system at the federal level seems long overdue if we are to avoid financial debacles such as those faced by Italy and the United Kingdom and New York City.

VEGETABLE PIZZA FOR KIDS

Pizza and vegetables team up to lure youngsters into "good eating." Invigilating children to eat vegetables takes on a happier note when the vegetables are on a "favorite food" - pizza.

Layer vegetables between pizzas to form a 3 high pizza tier. Then serve each child a wedge. The cheese and sauce on the frozen pizza flavors the vegetables, making them irresistible to youthful palates.

RELUCTANT VEGETABLE EATERS PIZZA

AMERICA'S LEADERS by Thompson

When HENRY WORTHINGTON was a young engineer in 1840, a call from the New York legislature encouraged him to develop a new concept in canal locks, including the first direct-acting steam pump ever invented. The legislature awarded him a medal for his work. His pump invention led to the founding of a small manufacturing plant that became the world's largest pump company.

Bicentennial executive board names committees for artifacts

The executive board of the Hancock County and Bay-Waveland Bicentennial Committee has named two committees to select materials and artifacts for placement in three time capsules and the city county library's display case.

The executive committee chose Norton Haas Sr. to head its committee for making all selections for the three time capsule boxes furnished the committee by Merchants, Hancock, and Gulf National Banks. The Haas committee will also set up rules and guide lines for all persons wishing to deposit information in the three boxes.

Full authority for the contents of the display case was given on a permanent basis to the library board of the city-county public library who will make selections and determine policies in connection with the case.

Mrs. Frances McDonald, president of the library board, said Ms. Joe Pilet would be asked to provide bicentennial articles for the first case display.

John McKenna, chairman of the bicentennial committee, together with other members of the bicentennial executive committee signed the official report of the committee which will be included in its entirety in the minutes of the board of supervisors and in the city minutes of both Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

McKenna said the bicentennial committee had voted to conclude its activities with the November 1976 meeting. "Most of our goals have been accomplished," McKenna said, "and future plans for activities on July 4 and during Labor Day are well defined and included in our resume."

* INFLATION-FIGHTING FOOD IDEAS *

RICE FLAMENCO

Surprisingly, rice is about as American a food as you could prepare for your family. Rice may seem oriental to you, but virtually all of the rice eaten in the U.S.A. is grown in the U.S.A. In fact, the United States is one of the largest exporters of rice in the world. American rice is preferred in many foreign countries because of its high quality, uniformity and cleanliness.

American homemakers like to use rice for many reasons. It's economical, costing less than four cents for a half-cup serving. It's easy to prepare, cooking in minutes. And it's healthful, containing vitamins, minerals and proteins. But the main thing is, it tastes good.

Here is a well seasoned mushroom and rice casserole with a Spanish accent that will cost you less than its rich taste and impressive good looks would lead you to believe.

RICE FLAMENCO

1 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced or 3 cans (4 ounces each) sliced mushrooms, drained
1/2 cup sliced green onions
1/2 cup chopped celery
3/4 cup grated carrots
1/4 cup oil
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1 cup water
4 cups cooked rice (cooked in chicken broth or bouillon)
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Cook mushrooms, onions, celery, and carrots in oil until tender. Add tomato paste, tomato sauce, salt, pepper, and water. Cover and simmer for 15 minutes. Serve vegetables over beds of fluffy rice. Top with grated cheese. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Trucking Association

chairman warns of loss

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Thousands of small towns and rural areas across the country may lose interstate truck services if the federal government ceases to regulate the nation's trucking industry, Lee R. Sollenbarger, chairman of the American Trucking Associations (ATA) warned Sunday.

A nationwide survey of more than 900 trucking firms, Sollenbarger said, indicates vital small town freight service now required by the Interstate Commerce Commission would be dropped as unprofitable or marginal if that service is no longer mandated.

"I also expect shipping costs in these areas to skyrocket under deregulation," he said. "The total effect annually would be to add millions of dollars to the costs of goods and services in small towns."

The ICC currently requires, as part of its licensing procedures, that interstate trucking firms maintain freight service to small or isolated communities on their routes. This is important to areas where rail or water transportation has been discontinued or is unavailable.

"Better than three out of five carriers, if deregulated, would drop small town truck service as unprofitable, according to our poll," Sollenbarger said.

The Ford administration proposed to Congress last fall "general phasing-out of ICC" over the $23 billion-a-year interstate trucking industry, and May unveiled another deregulation plan. Legislation incorporating the proposals has been introduced in Congress.

But truck deregulation has drawn considerable fire from smaller towns which fear they would lose necessary truck freight service. Last December the National League of Cities adopted a resolution opposing the deregulation plan "since it poses a threat to continuance of service to small communities."

According to Sollenbarger, there is good reason for small towns to be concerned because the ATA poll indicates every state except Hawaii would lose service to some communities.

"Hardest hit," he said, "would be towns of 5,000 or less people."

Four-fifths of the firms responding to the poll also say they believe broad scale deregulation of the trucking industry would very likely result in temporary rate wars, the failure or bankruptcy of many small truck firms and eventual decrease in transportation services, especially to small communities.

Congressman Trent Lott will be the featured principal speaker when the newly completed City-County Library building is dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 27.

Prima Wusnack, coordinator of the Hancock County Library System, said a number of interesting exhibits will be displayed in various rooms. One of the larger will be projects completed by members of Mrs. Rene de Montuzin's Spanish and French classes. Carnival costumes rare books and a letter written to Senator Bilbo in the 30's protesting removal of W.P.A. funds for the library will also be shown.

Landscaping of the grounds is also underway and a permanent memorial garden is planned for the site.

This is a joint venture of members of the board, Friends of the Library and Bay-Waveland Garden Club. Mrs. Dan M. Russell, Jr. Civic Development (HANDS) chairman of the garden club, aided by Mrs. Lelyn W. Nybo, Memorial Gardens chairman, are working closely with Joanne Palmer, landscape designer on the planting.

Three break-ins reported

Theft was reported in only one of three break-ins investigated by the Bay St. Louis Police Department during the period June 18-21. A power chain saw, fishing reel, and tackle were reported missing following a June 16 break-in at a residence at N. Beach Blvd. and Paradise Point. Entry was made by kicking down a door, according to Police Chief Billy Carbonette.

In break-ins June 19 and 21 at Frostop on U.S. Highway 90 and 114 Burnett St., respectively, nothing was reported stolen. Entry to both buildings was made through rear door. A CB radio and Honda outboard motor were stolen during unrelated thefts June 21. Chief Carbonette said the radio was stolen from a car belonging to Oscar Thomas while parked in front of Dock of the Bay Lounge on Beach Blvd. The outboard motor was stolen from a residence at 632 N. Beach Blvd.

No injuries were reported following a two car accident June 20 at the intersection of Highway 90 and Second St. Drivers of the vehicles were Thomas Wood and Johnny Grace.

Cooking for a crowd

Wooing them with "down home" meals

BY CAROLE LANGE

A "down home" Southern-styled spread, prepared by two Hancock County cooks, will be given a taste-test in Washington this summer by visitors to the American Folklife Festival.

Mrs. Daisy Bell and Edwin Fairconnetue, first cousins from Bay St. Louis, will be in the nation's capitol June 30 - July 5 to send the aroma of steaming gumbo and chicken and dumplings wafting over the mall of the Smithsonian Institute.

COOKING SINCE CHILDHOOD

She began cooking when she wasn't tall enough to reach the stove top and had to stand on a box, and has been dishing up Southern style delicacies to her own nine children and to Bay St. Louis families ever since.

Mrs. Daisy Bell, known as "Mother" to the children in her neighborhood, plans to prepare her specialties of chicken and dumplings, stuffed mirlitons (vegetable pear), barbecue sauce, and okra gumbo.

With the exception of the barbecue sauce, which has been passed down in her family, all of the delicacies are the results of experiments in Mrs. Bell's spacious kitchen.

She hasn't yet devised a schedule "as to when to cook what" but will definitely ladle the barbecue sauce over spareribs for a Fourth of July feed.

Mrs. Bell doesn't limit her cooking to "rib sticking meals" and can turn out all sorts of desserts, salads, and appetizers "just by doing it. I don't have any recipes and I never measure the ingredients."

When asked to participate in the Folklife Festival, she had no misgivings about cooking for such a large group, as she has been preparing family dinners for special occasions for the Lucien Gex and Milton Phillips families for a number of years.

She usually prepares these meals in her own kitchen, rising at 4 a.m. to begin cooking "so nothing will taste warmed over."

Mrs. Bell also likes to see her family, including 18 grandchildren, enjoy a good meal, and she often prepares dinner for them throughout the week in addition to her other duties.

Armed with photographs of her grandchildren and her own supply of mirlitons, Mrs. Bell is ready to make the trip to Washington, treating the whole affair as "just cooking for a very large family."

ALWAYS COOKED FOR A CROWD

Edwin Fairconnetue has no reservations about cooking for the thousands expected to be in Washington this summer, because that's what he's been doing for the past 48 years as chef in many of the "highway" restaurants in his hometown of Bay St. Louis.

Now a butcher at St. Stanislaus and a cook at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, Fairconnetue will prepare red beans and rice, okra and file gumbo, and a creamed meat sauce with cheese during his stay in the nation's capitol.

Fear of flying is probably on his mind more than cooking, as Fairconnetue has only been outside Bay St. Louis once in his life. (He went to visit relatives in Newark, N.J. and made the trip by bus.)

"I may never fly again," he said "but Daisy wanted me to go with her, so here I go."

Unlike his cousin, whose baggage will consist mostly of personal belongings, Fairconnetue is taking along a carton of "country seasonings" needed to create his dishes.

One of the necessary items "which the people in Washington could never find" is his own special brand of file for gumbo. He is also taking different types of poultry seasoning, two boxes of corn starch, and special chicken and beef gravy bases.

Though an admitted "taster" of his dishes, Fairconnetue said he never follows a recipe. He credits his father "who was a better cook than I am" for teaching him how to know what will taste good.

He says it's a mystery to him as to who recommended that he cook at the Festival, but he adds, "I've been here so long, I guess somebody got wind of me."

Fairconnetue said he'll gladly divulge his cooking secrets with anyone who asks him. "I know what's good, and I don't mind telling others."

With less than a week left before they begin cooking for the nation, the cousins appear relatively unconcerned, though admittedly excited, about the trip. Both concurred "Cooking for a crowd is the kind of cooking we know best."

Special seasonings

Edwin Fairconnetue looks over a carton of "country seasonings" which he will take to the American Folklife Festival in the nation's capitol. Included are poultry seasonings, corn starch, and a special blend of file.

Following are recipes from Daisy Bell and Ed Fairconnetue which will be prepared at the American Folklife Festival in Washington this summer.

ED'S CREOLE GUMBO

Flour	veal
salad oil	ham
green onions	chicken
white onions	seafood (shrimp)
garlic	water
bell pepper	seasonings
smoked sausage	filet

Make a roue of flour and salad oil, cooking until lightly brown, add to next 12 ingredients and simmer for several hours, adding water as necessary.

When meat and vegetables are tender, remove mixture from stove and add filet. Never let filet boil because it will be come "ropey." Serve over hot cooked rice.

DAISY'S CHICKEN AND DUMPLINGS

Nice size hen	celery
salt	parsley
flour	water
butter	bay leaf
onions	baking powder
bell pepper	milk
garlic	egg
pepper

Cut hen in portions and brown in flour, salt, and pepper mixture. Set aside and make gravy base using butter, flour, onions, bell pepper, garlic, celery and parsley - cook until brown. Add water and chicken and simmer until meat is done. To make dumplings, combine flour, baking powder, butter, milk, egg and a pinch of salt. Drop dumplings by teaspoonfuls into boiling gravy. Cover pot and cook for five minutes. Special advice - "Don't lift the top or the dumplings will flop." Serve while hot.

PRJC to provide Navy training programs

Pearl River Junior College has signed agreements with the U.S. Naval Oceanographic Office at NSTI to conduct a two-year College Navy Cooperative Education Program and to train civilian Navy Technicians.

According to Al Brooks, coordinator of the Pearl River Vocational Department, both agreements are in full swing. Two PRC students are working the co-op program, and a digital and computer electronics course is scheduled to begin here on campus July 6.

"The digital and computer electronics course will be accelerated," Robert Dreyer, PRC electronics instructor said.

"It's designed specifically for the Navy Oceanographic personnel," Dreyer commented, "it's not a beginner's course."

This particular course will run for 20 days with instruction six hours per day. According to Dreyer, 75 percent of the 120 required hours will be lecture, while the other 25 percent is divided into laboratory time.

"I am anxious to get started," Dreyer said, "I know we can do a good job for the Navy." Dreyer worked as a representative for Offshore Raydist and Offshore Navigation of New Orleans, while the company contracted several jobs with the Navy Oceanographic Office.

"I know their requirements," Dreyer said, "that's why I have so much confidence in our (PRC) facilities." The Pearl River instructor was also project manager of the Radio Positioning Services for Offshore Raydist when they were working on the Polaris Submarine Program.

The cooperative program is designed to prepare students for professional careers in administrative, managerial, and technical occupations by integrating alternating periods of academic study and work experience. "By combining the manifold advantages of a well-rounded education with the experience gained from actual work assignments, the program should enhance both the quality and quantity of trainees entering the Navy-wide career fields," a spokesman for the NOO said. "I think this is just the beginning," Brooks said, "Pearl River will be working with the Navy Oceanographic group on a continuing basis in the future."

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL HENDRY

Hendry-Moran

Miss Kathy Marie Moran, Kiln, and Michael Hendry, Wiggins, were united in marriage during an afternoon ceremony June 12 at Annunciation Catholic Church in Kiln.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Moran Jr. of Kiln and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Hendry of Gulfport.

Father Pierre Hissey performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked with two standing baskets of white gladioli and blue carnations.

Mrs. Paula Woodfin of Bay St. Louis provided nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride designed her formal Antebellum gown which featured tiers of Chantilly lace. Her elbow length veil of soft tulle trimmed in the lace fell from a Juliet cap.

She carried a nosegay of white and blue pom poms with accents of baby's breath.

Miss Carol Moran of Kiln attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Joyce Moran of Kiln, Vickie Williams of Bay St. Louis, and Cathy Hendry of Gulfport, sister of the groom.

Dana Moran of Kiln, sister of the bride, and Halleigh Moran, Kiln, were flower girls.

The attendants were identically attired in gowns of blue flocked fabric over an under dress of the same blue. These gowns were also designed by the bride. They carried nosegays of blue and white carnations with blue streamers.

The groom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Donald Hendry of Baton Rouge, La. brother of the groom; Donald Moran of Kiln, uncle of the bride; and William Goodwin of Bay St. Louis. Bobby Clark and Clay Nacaise, both of Gulfport, were ushers.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the VFW Home in Kiln.

For traveling to Florida, the bride wore a dress of baby blue crepe with a waist length jacket, which she designed. She also wore a white carnation corsage given to her by her mother.

The couple will reside in Wiggins where the groom is employed with the Mississippi Forestry Commission as management forester.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Abbott of Hattiesburg, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hendry of Baton Rouge; Mrs. Cheryl Hendry of Fort Polk, La.; and Mr. and Mrs. David Hendry of Laurel.

Echo Wedding and Engagement Policy

The Sea Coast Echo realizes that your wedding is one of the most important days of your life, and we can help you preserve that memory through an accurate account of the event.

Your cooperation is necessary to assure that the information we receive is correct and timely.

The Echo supplies engagement and wedding announcement forms free of charge. These forms should be completed and returned to the Echo at least two weeks prior to the event. In the case of engagement announcements, it is preferable to print them at least two weeks prior to the wedding. The wedding announcement will not appear in the paper if it is delivered to the Echo more than two weeks after the wedding.

There will be no exceptions to this policy.

Most brides prefer to have a black and white photograph appear with their engagement announcement. Only good, clear, professional black and white photographs will be used, either 5x7 or 8x10. The Echo will not accept color photographs.

Black and white photographs to accompany the wedding announcement may be of either the bride or of both the bride and groom. If the bride does not have a formal black and white portrait taken prior to the wedding, she can arrange with her photographer to take one that day. Reputable photographers will have the pictures back within a relatively short period of time.

VFW Ladies Auxiliary convenes

The convention of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars to be held June 25-27 at the Sheraton Inn in Biloxi will conclude a record-breaking year under the leadership of President Jean Woodard, eight-times recipient of national "President of the Month" award for having the greatest percentage of paid-up members.

At the present time, Mississippi has the distinction of reaching over 5000 members and has contributed over $15,000 to cancer aid and research this year, and poppy sales have been surpassed by 5000 poppies.

Senior Vice President Bobbie Howell has served as membership chairman, Chaplain Marie James as cancer research chairman, and Conductress Helen Cummings as poppy chairman. All programs will be continued through the June convention.

National Junior Vice President Grace Minnix of Belle, W.Va., will be met at the Gulfport airport by a welcoming committee Thursday afternoon at 3 p.m. Mrs. Minnix has directed three National VFW Auxiliary programs that reached every state in the union and benefitted thousands throughout the nation. Mrs. Minnix is operating room secretary, General Division of the Charleston Area Medical Center.

Her legislative program included support of Safeguard ABM System; opposition to closing of Veterans Hospitals, National Cemeteries, and restriction of Arlington. She was a strong advocate of a standing Veterans Committee in the U.S. Senate, before such a committee was appointed. In her national rehabilitation program, 5 million hours of voluntary service were contributed and more than $3,600,000 raised to benefit handicapped persons.

During her term as director of the cancer aid research program, insurance coverage for cancer and other diseases was extended to two-thirds of all Auxiliaries, an all-time record high at that time. Cancer aid to members with the disease reached almost $500,000.

The three-day session will be highlighted by a presentation of a special Americanism program and a visit from the representatives of the V.A. Hospitals served by volunteers from the Mississippi Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary.

Installation of officers will conclude the meetings with Bobbie Howell of Corinth to be installed as president, Adah Estes of Blue Mountain, senior vice president, Elaine Boone of Vicksburg, secretary, Enzo Grandy of Ocean Springs, treasurer, Marie James of Clinton, junior vice president, Helen Cummings of Colum-

"1776" reviewed*For four nights it was the year of independence again

By JOE PILET

There was a standing ovation and repeat curtain calls at Bay St. Louis Little Theater Saturday night when the curtain went down after a four night triumphant run of "1776."

The play had everything going for it right from the start! With lively music, lyrics and a timely story, players presented the drama of sweat, tears, controversy and compromise that went into the dramatic struggle for independence when American colonies cut the umbilical cord severing them from Mother England during that long, hot Philadelphia summer when the First Continental Congress was in session.

Director Olive McKenna put her heart, soul and energy into the production and her years of professional experience paid off. Then, too, she had full cooperation from a technical staff second to none and nothing was lacking from musicians, set construction and "back stage" crew.

"1776" proved to be one of the best, if not the best musical presented in Bay St. Louis Little Theater during its 30-year history span. When members of the cast, those 25 guys and two dolls, donned Revolutionary costumes as if by magic they became citizens of the 1770's! They were superb! (Definite Lee, Positively-Lee and Bunk Gardner will attest to this statement).

Former Bay St. Louis Mayor, John Scaffidi, of Tulane U. football fame was a pale and inert character in comparison with run thirsty Stephen Hopkins - let's all drink to independence. Egotistical and impatient John Adams, portrayed by Skip Wusnack, disregarded his compatriots' plea "For God's sake, John sit down," and stood staunchly with one grudgingly given compromise.

There were audible and compassionate sighs as the audience expressed empathy for the plight of newly wed Martha and Thomas Jefferson (Tammy Caruthers and Jay Decker) and the delicate balance of time, drama and humor was captivating. Dear, bifocaled, gouty, false-teethed Benjamin Franklin with witty remarks and diplomacy acted with uncommon feeling. Ted Stechmann actually "out-Franklined" the original Franklin. The right man in the right place at the right time. Dialogue was funny. Really hilarious. Sometimes a bit racy. Sort of tongue-in-cheek suggestiveness.

Peter Stone, author of the book on which "1776" was based, would have been highly pleased with audience reaction. The play made its unforgettable point. We are now a proud nation, 200 years young - strong and confident with a strength that comes from combat and conquering. Having proven to the world that Freedom works, our present generation is bold to meet the challenge - the year 2076 will find refinements and improvements in America's way of life.

Buccaneer initiates new day use policy

Buccaneer State Park has initiated a new policy on day use of the facilities, according to park manager Stan Weidman.

Under the new plan a private campsite will be assigned between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday for a $2.50 fee per group.

The pay-one-price entitles non-campers full use of a private campsite including a barbecue grill and picnic table. Also included is use of the tennis and basketball courts, recreation center, shower houses and swimming pool.

The Park commission in Jackson initiated the new procedure to maximize both safety and comfort for campers and non-campers, Weidman said. For the past several weekends the park has been filled to capacity with campers. Because the pool can accommodate only a certain number of swimmers while remaining both safe and comfortable, it is open only to registered campers on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, said Weidman. The same holds true for the tennis courts, basketball courts and shower houses, he added.

The grounds of the park must also be protected from large overflows of people on weekends, Weidman said, adding unless admittance to the park were limited to registered campers on weekends, both the grass and the soil would suffer, from overcrowding.

Legion blasts Dixie, Chasez scuttled

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO American Legion utilized Kerry Geroux's six hit pitching and a three run fourth inning as they shut down Dixie Realty 9-1 Sunday afternoon in Babe Ruth action.

Geroux gave up a fourth inning run and struck out six in going the distance. Tony Raboteau and Geroux ripped rbi doubles to lead the Legion attack.

Andrew Haas absorbed the loss for Dixie Realty, relieved by Kevin McCaleb after five innings. Ricky Manieri singled Randy Reighier home for their lone run.

In the second game, Mike Richardson and Dwayne LaFontaine's combined two hitter for Coast Electric and catcher Woody Necaise's three hits overpowered Chasez-Construction 13-4.

LaFontaine (1-2) picked up the win, going the final two frames and also singled in his cause. Reliever Ricky Hardie was the losing pitcher for Chasez, following Donald Carver and starter David Murtagh. Ray Crosby and Jonathan Lewis singled to lead Chasez's offense.

Murtagh leads Chasez past American Legion

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO David Murtagh's four hitter and a tough Chasez defense were all the ingredients needed Tuesday as Chasez squeezed by first half champs American Legion 2-1 in Babe Ruth play at Tiger Field.

Murtagh held the opposition scoreless until the final inning for Chasez's second straight win over Legion.

Ray Crosby and Jonathan Lewis led Chasez at the plate with two hits apiece. Huewitt Parsons singled and threw out two runners attempting steals to kill two potential Legion rallies.

David Strong was charged with the loss, yielding seven hits in going the distance. Alton Benoit tripled in Legion's lone run and was called out at the plate for the game's final out.

In the second game, Rotary's Kerry Corr held Dixie Realty hitters for six innings and later fought off a two run seventh as he pitched his team to an 8-7 lead going into the seventh frame. But Ricky Manieri's two run single sent it into extra innings.

Three singles and a walk produced Rotary's run in the 10th. Blaine Thomas had three hits and Perry Cabell and Ricky Johnson both went two for six to lead the attack. Manieri was tagged with the loss, going the distance. Coast Electric will meet Dixie Realty in the Thursday evening opener at 6 p.m. followed by American Legion vs. Rotary.

Our Shopping Center catches fire; takes Little League by surprise

Our Shopping Center rattled off three quick wins in the second half of Little League play this week to take the opposition by surprise.

OSC dealt Merchant's Bank two of the losses-catching Merchants off guard 11-2 in the first meeting of the two teams last Wednesday and then following the act with a second 6-4 win Monday at McDonald Field.

In a high scoring game Friday night, OSC defeated Hancock Bank 13-8.

In other action this week, Merchant's defeated first half winner, Gulf National Bank, in the first game of Friday's double header 6-3, and American Legion won one and dropped one as the Legionnaires defeated Riemann's 7-3 last Wednesday and then fell to Hancock Bank 8-6 on Monday.

Our Shopping Center took the lead and were never behind as they downed Merchants Bank 6-4, Monday. Walter Ross went the route for OSC and was credited with the win. Ross and Kevin Garrett were the leaders at the plate with one hit each for two times at bat. Gary Adams, Scott Adams and Charles Oliver each collected two hits for Merchants Bank. By ANN STIEFFEL
CHAPMAN REGATTA - Bay Waveland's team showed remarkable strength in depth as they dominated all four races to win the CHAPMAN REGATTA for the sixth consecutive year. This popular team racing event held at Pass Christian Yacht Club June 19-20 determines the Mississippi Gulf Coast Championship for the year.

Five competing yacht clubs entered four Flying Scots in each race with different skippers for each race, bringing out a maximum number of participants.

BUBBY EAGAN took an early lead in the first race which he held to the finish, with crew Ed Turnipseed and Corky Hadden. After starting in a near calm, the boats were hit on the third leg by a violent squall which gave the sailors a thrilling race but took its toll in overturned boats and broken equipment. Gulfport Yacht Club finished second, Woody Santa Cruz third with crew Amy Chapman and Randy Santa Cruz. Ray Stieffel was sixth with crew Ann and Dennis Stieffel. John Christensen with crew Marc Eagan and Charlotte Gordon were in second place when the head stay on their Scot broke during the squall leaving them unable to finish the race.

The second race was sailed in very light air with MARC EAGAN and crew Tom Allen and Ed Turnipseed finishing first. Cindy Stieffel was second with crew Amy Chapman and Dennis Stieffel. Chuck Breath and crew Elizabeth Chapman and Charlotte Gordon finished fifth. John Heath with crew Bubby Eagan and Corky Hadden was ninth.

Recall of electric worm probe announced

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Terrann Industries, Inc., producers of the "Bait-catcher," an electric worm probe, today announced in cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission that the company has suspended sale and is conducting a total recall of approximately 6,000 "Bait-catchers" sold since the commencement of marketing in 1975.

The probe consists of a partially insulated metal rod and an on-off switch, which a plug and cord is attached to. The worm probe uses electric current to bring worms to the surface.

The recall is the result of an agreement between Terrann and the Consumer Product Safety Commission which states that the product may present a substantial risk of electric shock to users. Owners should discontinue use of the probe and promptly return it to the place of purchase or to Terrann Industries, Inc., 17204 McFadden, Tustin, CA 92680.

The company will modify the existing product model to incorporate additional safety features specified by the Commission.

John Schommer, vice president and marketing director of Terrann, requested that individuals who have purchased the "Baitcatcher" return it to the distributor or retailer from whom they purchased the device, and indicated that they would receive either a refund of their purchase money or a receipt which can be exchanged for the safely modified "Model II Baitcatcher" which is expected to be in production within the next 30 to 60 days.

Forbidding, mysterious Okefenokee is safe haven, still a 'wilderness shot through with mystery'

The Seminole Indians called it "land of the trembling earth." Cartoonist Walt Kelly used it as the locale for his famous comic strip, Pogo. It was a refuge for Civil War deserters and runaway slaves. Now, to more than 10,000 alligators, it is home. By whatever name it is called, or for whatever purpose it is used, America's vast Okefenokee Swamp is still a "paradise teeming with wildlife...a menacing wilderness shot through with mystery," according to the current (June-July) issue of NATIONAL WILDLIFE magazine.

The 681-square-mile swamp straddling the Georgia-Florida state line "remains as mysterious as when the first naturalists explored it two centuries ago," says the bimonthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation, but fortunately four-fifths of its area has been made into a National Wildlife Refuge, guaranteeing its future at a time when booming development threatens other wetland areas in the Southeast.

Okefenokee got its "trembling earth" name, reports the magazine's Senior Editor Mark Wexler, when the Seminoles observed that its wide stretches of floating peat beds "rock back and forth when walked upon, causing trees and shrubs to bob up and down in bizarre rhythms."

Most of the swamp is a mixture of black lakes, pine-covered islands, cypress trees and floating wild flowers. Of its 681 square miles only five percent consists of solid ground, found on the 70-odd islands. These islands once served as homes for runaway slaves, Civil War deserters, itinerant lumbermen and other adventurers. They bear such colorful names as Bugaboo, Roasting Ear and Soldier's Cairn.

But the real attraction of the lush wilderness is its abundant wildlife, according to the National Wildlife Federation magazine. More than 10,000 alligators inhabit the swamp, which is also home for 42 mammal species, 20 types of frogs, 30 different kinds of snakes, dozens of turtle and lizard species, and tens of thousands of migratory waterfowl.

"Surprisingly, quite a few of the refuge's year-round winged residents are not water birds," notes Wexler in NATIONAL WILDLIFE. "Nesting on the pine thickets and along the fringes of the sandy islands are such common southern species as the blue jay, Carolina wren, crested flycatcher, red-shouldered hawk and pileated woodpecker."

Within the past decade, refuge biologists have discovered nesting colonies of the wood ibis on an island accessible by canoe only during high-water periods. The only stork species native to North America, the wood ibis had not been known to nest anywhere in the U. S. except for southern Florida. More recently, the first scarlet ibis was sighted near one of the last nesting sites of the threatened Florida sandhill crane.

Among the mammal species found in the Okefenokee, the bobcat remains the most elusive, according to Wexler. He reports that the 40-pound creature now numbers between 700 and 800 in the swamp, where its numbers once had dropped drastically due to killings by swamp-island residents.

The most prolific of the swamp's inhabitants are the reptiles, of which alligators are the most prominent. The Okefenokee also harbors three of the country's most poisonous snakes: the eastern coral, the cottonmouth water moccasin and the eastern diamondback rattler.

The swamp, a shallow depression carved out of the Atlantic Ocean during the Pleistocene Epoch, consists of two distinct portions. The eastern part is an open marshy area, filled with aquatic life and tiny islets. Early settlers called these marshes "prairies" even though they bore no resemblance to true prairies found farther west. The western section of the swamp has more shallow water and is dominated by cypress trees.

...the Indians called it 'Land of the trembling earth'...

In the early 1900's loggers cut more than 400 million board feet of cypress from the swamp, destroying many trees that had grown there for centuries. Today several 400-year-old giant cypress still can be found in the remotest corners of the refuge. The source of the Suwannee and St. Marys rivers, the Okefenokee shelters innumerable plant species, including beautiful white waterlilies that bloom from March to November.

The swamp became a government refuge in 1937, none too soon to preserve the vital habitat shared by such diverse wildlife as black bears, otters, rabbits, white-tailed deer, wood ducks, herons, egrets, osprey and bats.

YOUR ELECTRIC BILL MAY DOUBLE IN THE NEXT FEW MONTHS!

It's that time of the year again. As the weather warms up, you turn on your air conditioner. Your refrigerator and freezer have to run longer. With this increasing use of electricity, your electric service bill goes up—and this year electricity costs more than it did last year.

The following table shows that Mississippi Power Company's typical residential customer buys twice as many kilowatt-hours of electricity in mid-summer as in April:

	Average Residential KWH Billed	Percent KWH Increase Over April		Average Residential KWH Billed	Percent KWH Increase Over April
1974			1975
April	588 KWH		April	622 KWH
May	643 KWH	9.4%	May	682 KWH	9.6%
June	1,007 KWH	71.3%	June	1,000 KWH	60.8%
July	1,158 KWH	96.9%	July	1,225 KWH	96.9%
August	1,278 KWH	117.3%	August	1,244 KWH	100.0%
September	1,202 KWH	104.4%	September	1,231 KWH	97.9%

Only you can control the amount of electricity you use.

Every time you decide to switch on an appliance or the thermostat turns it on, our power plants burn more fuel and produce additional electricity which flows to that appliance and makes it operate. The exact amount of electricity you use is measured by your electric meter, and your next bill includes the cost of that electricity.

It costs money to make each kilowatt-hour of electricity and that cost has been rising steadily because of inflation and sharply higher fuel and energy costs. These costs must be recovered in the rates we charge for electric service. No merchant or manufacturer can give away his products and stay in business.

We all want to conserve and keep electric bills from being any larger than necessary, but few of us want to give up the higher standards of living made possible by electricity. Although we can't control your electrical usage, Mississippi Power Company can help you get the most for your electric dollar by providing information about proper energy management.

How To Figure Your Residential Electric Bill

MISSISSIPPI POWER COMPANY

APRIL, 1976

The cost of electric service this month under Mississippi Power Company's residential rate ("R-6") is:

Minimum Monthly Bill - $3.00
First 100 kilowatt-hours @ 5.70¢ per kilowatt-hour
Next 200 kilowatt-hours @ 2.85¢ per kilowatt-hour
All additional kilowatt-hours @ 2.00¢ per kilowatt-hour

An adjustment for the cost of fuel is added to the above base rate, and to the total is added Mississippi's 5% sales tax.

FIGURING A SAMPLE BILL

First, note the kilowatt-hour usage, in this case 800 kilowatt-hours, for the month of April. (Electricity is measured in kilowatt-hours, with one kilowatt-hour equal to the electricity needed to keep one 100-watt light bulb burning for 10 hours.) Then, divide the usage into blocks corresponding to the rate schedule above. Determine the cost of the kilowatt-hours in each block and add to arrive at the total base charge.

800 KWH USED
First 100 KWH @ 5.70¢ each = $ 5.70
Next 200 KWH @ 2.85¢ each = $ 5.70
Next 500 KWH @ 2.00¢ each = $10.00
Base Charge = $21.40

The cost of fuel varies upward or downward from month to month. In Mississippi, as in most other states, fluctuations in the cost of fuel used in generating electricity are applied to the customer's electric bill on a per kilowatt-hour basis. This is in accord with the Company's fuel adjustment clause filed with the Mississippi Public Service Commission. The fuel adjustment is noted on the bill under the heading "Fuel Cost Adj. - KWH." The fuel adjustment on the sample bill is 1.0554¢, or 80.010554¢ per kilowatt-hour. Multiply this number by the kilowatt-hours used to determine the total fuel adjustment.

Base Charge
Fuel Adjustment (1.0554¢ x 800 KWH) = $ 8.44
Total charge for electric service = $29.84

Finally, determine 5% of the total charge for electric service for Mississippi's state sales tax; add this amount to obtain the total of your electric service bill.

Total Charge for electric service for Mississippi's state sales tax; add this amount to obtain the total of your electric service bill.

5% of $29.84 = $ 1.49
TOTAL BILL = $31.33

You'll find many ideas and suggestions about the wise use of electricity in our 20-page "Energy Management Handbook," which features a listing of typical amounts of electricity used by various appliances and also explains how to read an electric meter. Also available is a monthly pamphlet which details step-by-step how a consumer can figure his own residential electric bill. Both are available free-of-charge at any Mississippi Power Company office.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

by DIDDY QUINLAN

Father's Day festivities last weekend included a card making session Saturday morning. The children's cards were read aloud Sunday, and the "greatest Dad" award was presented on this basis to Bob Davison of Meroux, La. R.P. Massony of Mandeville won the award for having the most kids, while Eddie Lawrence took the prize for being the oldest dad camping at the park.

The champs had a chance to demonstrate their skills at the Football and Ping-pong tournaments both Saturday and Sunday. The Football double winners were Craig Kuehler, 17, of Boulder, Colorado and Burt Songy, 16, of Hahnville, La. Albert Joseph of Kenner stole first place in the ping-pong event, while Charles Austin of Hahnville followed with a close second.

The beautiful weather Sunday provided the perfect atmosphere for an outdoor shuffleboard match won by Benny Seither of New Orleans, with Gordon Madere of Garyville, La., placing second. For those who preferred to cool off a bit, there was volleyball game in the swimming pool.

Another fun-filled weekend is planned beginning Friday at 8:30 p.m. with Charlie Chaplin's classic "The Eternal Tramp" being shown outdoors if the weather permits. Quite a crowd is expected to attend WNPS Radio Station's C.B. Radio Jam-boree Saturday at pavilions two and three. A tennis tournament will begin around dusk for all the sports-minded campers.

Don't forget that day use of the facilities is available Monday through Thursday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., for non-campers for a fee of $2.50 per group.

The big rain of last Saturday slowed down fresh water fishing quite a bit. Believe it or not, when we have a hard rain the water goes into our bays and canals, causing them to be muddy, especially where you have gravel or dirt roads. Only takes a day or two for the water to clear again, providing there is a falling tide.

Kantcha Ketchum

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Let's analyze fishing - for instance the time to go. When fresh water fishing, the time to go is when the tide is falling. A rising tide is no good. If the tide is falling in the morning, go. From our experience when the tide is rising, stay home. On the other hand, if the tide is rising, go for salt water fish. Hard crabs also give better on a rough rising tide. Soft crabs are caught on a falling tide. Flounder are caught on a rising tide. Watch the tide. It has a lot to do with fishing.

When fishing in inland lakes for fresh water fish, tide conditions don't make much difference. Fishing however is best early in the morning or late in the evening.

If you fish in private lakes or ponds, get permission from the owners. It makes things much nicer.

The American Legion Pier has been worked over by the Board of Supervisors. The grass was cut and the ground leveled off. A channel was dredged from the launching pier and fishing can be done all along the driveways. This is a great improvement for those who fish from the bank. This pier, like the Municipal Pier at Ulman Avenue, are free to the public. No reason now not to go fishing, crabbing, etc. It will be the spot where the children's rodeo will be held this month. The renovation of this spot is a job well done.

Was talking to Joe Taconi. He said he was too busy taking care of his home garden to go fishing. Joe used to go fishing, used a cast net and caught crabs.

Joe Perkins is another of our long time fishermen. He fished mostly for salt water fish but also did fresh water fishing. Worked a long time with Ed Ortte down at Bayou Cadet. He's now employed with the City. He remembers some of our old time fishermen, Bob Genin, Oscar Bragg, Albert Hitt, Jerome Carver, Fred Wright, Bob Mitchell and others. Joe still fishes and gets his share of the finny tribe. Talk to Joe and learn something about fishing. He

Coast collects delayed victory

Coast Electric used an 11-hit barrage and Mike Richardson's strong mound work as they defeated Chazex Construction 13-2 Sunday in the completion of the May 30 game which was suspended because of a light malfunction.

Richardson led the offense with a double and two singles as he won his third game of the season. Dwayne LaFontaine collected two hits and two runs to aid the Coast Electric attack.

Ricky Hardie took the loss, getting help from Andy Pernicaro in the fourth. Chazex scrambled for two runs in the fifth and Brian Adam and Charles LaFontaine singled to pace the losers at the plate.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK - Here we have Carl Gustafson Sr. who operates Sportsman's Paradise on U.S. Highway 90. Carl has fished all his life doing both salt and fresh water fishing. He and his son, Carl Jr., make a hard father and son combination to beat when it comes to catching fish.

Went fishing last Wednesday. The tide started falling about 4 p.m. and from then on we caught bass and perch. We fished to 8 p.m. Next week fresh water fishing will be better. The tides will begin to go out earlier and soft crabbing should improve. Just imagine you can leave at 1 p.m. and still get in about seven hours fishing, thanks to day light savings time.

Junior Carver is one of our best salt water fishermen. Knows where to go and how to get them. He is one of our younger fishermen and goes on every occasion. Junior is employed by the City.

Sheldon Seuzeneaus, Jr., was bragging about the 36-pound red fish he caught in Bayou Grey out in the marsh last week. He was fishing with J. C. Baxter and Aimes Kergosien. This threesome go quite often to the marsh. Catching this size fish is something to brag about, any old time, Sheldon.

It is with deep sorrow I announce the death of Alvin R. Vetter last Friday. Al was one of our best fishermen, active in all local affairs and a real worker for all Boy Scout activities. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Fishing recently we have been catching quite a few shellcrackers. They are a member of the perch family. Put up a good fight when hooked and have a good food value. They are caught mostly when still fishing.
